

BMJ Journals

Getting started guide

Make the most of your access to BMJ Journals

- BMJ Journals publish over 60 medical journals across a range of specialties.
- Enjoy online editor's choice articles, blogs, podcasts, online first articles and much more.

To view the full range of journals that we publish, visit journals.bmj.com.

journals.bmj.com

1. Submit your paper via our online submission system
2. Browse the archive by year and issue
3. Read articles as soon as they are published online
4. View the current issue
5. Read the top most read articles from the previous month
6. Register to receive regular electronic table of contents
7. Search the recent issue or archive via the advanced search tool
8. View related Journals

The screenshot shows the BMJ Journals website for the journal 'Gut'. The page layout includes a navigation bar with 'Subscribe', 'Log In', and a search box (7). Below the navigation bar, there are links for 'Latest content', 'Current issue', 'Archive', 'Authors', and 'About'. A 'Gut' logo is visible, along with an 'Email alerts' button (6). The main content area features a description of the journal, its 'Current issue' (4) with an 'IMPACT FACTOR 14.921', and a 'feedback' button (2). The page is divided into sections: 'LATEST CONTENT' (3) with articles on gut microbiota, inflammatory bowel disease, stomach, and hepatitis; 'MOST READ ARTICLES' (5) with articles on small bowel, guidelines for Helicobacter pylori infection, hepatitis, and pancreas; 'PUBLISH IN THIS JOURNAL' (1) with links for 'Instructions for authors', 'Author toolbox', and 'Submit a paper'; and 'RELATED JOURNALS' (8) featuring 'FRONTLINE GASTROENTEROLOGY'.

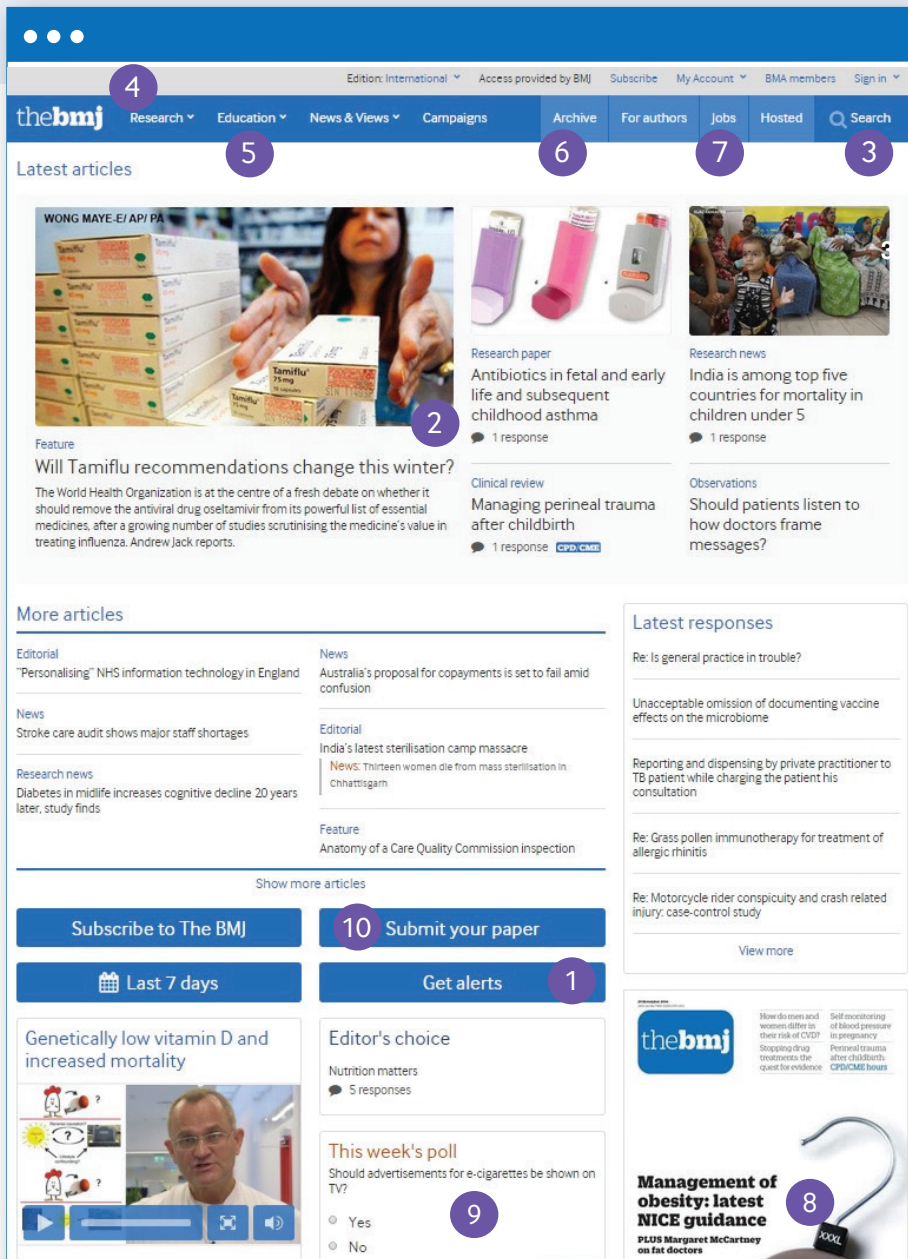

Want to get in touch?

E support@bmj.com T + 44 (0) 207 111 1105

One of the most influential and respected medical journals in the world featuring original research, reviews, expert analysis, authoritative opinion and medical education.

The BMJ publishes rigorous, accessible and entertaining material to help doctors and other decision makers in their daily practice, lifelong learning and career development. UK, US, India and international homepages are also available. You will be automatically directed to your relevant country homepage but use this navigation to see other country specific content.

The screenshot shows the BMJ website interface with the following numbered callouts:

- 1: Register for email alerts, update your details or email preferences
- 2: View the latest content, news and features
- 3: Easily search for content back to volume 1, issue 1 (1840), or use the advanced search feature to search by author, title, or DOI
- 4: Browse by content type through individual channel pages for research, education, news & views, and campaigns
- 5: Read and interact with the latest education content, from endgames quizzes to CME articles
- 6: Browse the print and online archives or browse by specialty - 300+ clinical or non-clinical specialties. You may also visit the podcast and video archives from here
- 7: Browse the latest jobs
- 8: Read the current print issue or download the iPad edition
- 9: Vote in our weekly poll
- 10: Submit your paper to The BMJ

bmj.com

1. Register for email alerts, update your details or email preferences
2. View the latest content, news and features
3. Easily search for content back to volume 1, issue 1 (1840), or use the advanced search feature to search by author, title, or DOI
4. Browse by content type through individual channel pages for research, education, news & views, and campaigns
5. Read and interact with the latest education content, from endgames quizzes to CME articles
6. Browse the print and online archives or browse by specialty - 300+ clinical or non-clinical specialties. You may also visit the podcast and video archives from here
7. Browse the latest jobs
8. Read the current print issue or download the iPad edition
9. Vote in our weekly poll
10. Submit your paper to The BMJ

Want to get in touch?

E support@bmj.com T + 44 (0) 207 111 1105